

ANNUAL SPRING HEALTH REPORT

The Joint Health Group although unable to meet since January 2022 has continued to deal with health issues notified to us. A new case of a dog clinically affected with Glaucoma has been notified to us and permission supplied to publish the name of the dog in printed publications.

ROXDALE CHUNKEY MONKEY DoB 9.6.2016

We have two different matings which have produced fitting offspring. These are still in the pipeline at present so no further details are available at present.

It was noted that on social media a number of dogs appear to be suffering from allergies. The JHG is looking at what, if any, research is being done on this subject.

The JHG is here to help and we want to know about any conditions affecting the breed. If enough cases of the same condition have been notified to us then we will look into this with experts in that field. This will hopefully enable us to publish information and articles about these conditions to help owners.

Please contact us if your dog is affected by any condition so that we can continue to work to try to prevent our beautiful dogs from suffering. We are here and want to help but we need you to help us.
